Definition:

The online gambling market includes various forms of online wagering activities, such as online sports betting, online casino games, and online lottery games.

However, in general, the market is dominated by a few large operators who offer a wide range of online gambling services to customers around the world.

Structure:

Online betting involves placing bets on various sports events, such as football, basketball, and horse racing, while online casino games include a range of traditional casino games, such as poker, blackjack, and roulette, that can be played over the internet.

Online lottery games involve purchasing tickets for various lotteries, such as national and international lotteries, over the internet.

Data includes revenue figures in Gross Gambling Revenue (GGR), which is the total amount of bets placed by customers minus the amount paid out in winnings, Users, average revenue per user (ARPU), user penetration rate, and online and offline shares of the total gambling market.

User and revenue figures represent B2C services.

Possible outcomes of 1-3-2-6

Loss of the first bet (total loss of one betting unit)

It may seem like the 1-3-2-6 system makes it more likely to make money than to lose.
