Next up, we'll briefly review the legal history and current status of sports

betting in the Silver State.NEVADA BETTING LAWS

Therefore, operators in the space would need a costly gambling license, and all the paperwork and oversight it entails.

Both FanDuel and DraftKings have so far shied away from this process.

This would include a special DFS license that's separate from general sportsbook licenses.

Unlike online sportsbooks in other states, Nevada betting sites don't directly provide gambling action on the browser.

According to the NGCB, more than 400 casinos are open for business in the state as of 2020.

Johnradly ,

Stay away.

This sportsbook will scam you.

Once it's getting near the 5th business day and you still haven't changed your mind and winning they will then block you from withdrawing your money and will start asking you for your ID and a picture of you holding the card that you use and other documents etc.

So they pretend to say okay it's under review up to 5 business days.

It's okay with them if you keep losing but when it's time to take out your money they will hold it and block your account.

We can easily show them what they want with our ID and Card but were not doing it because they didn't have a problem accepting our deposit why would we go through their demands.

I have screenshotted all my winnings i will report this to Illinois Gambling Co mmision and will look for a Lawyer.
