That means that playing on international or offshore bookies is illegal.

Now they are treated as income, and the relevant tax (up to 62%) applies.

Remember that any exclusions will also apply in land-based casinos.

Most reputable Danish betting sites applied for a local license, and they remai ned the prime choice of players.

Where does that leave you? While it is still unclear whether this tax will appl y in general, a mass exodus followed, and international sportsbooks saw an influ x of Danish players.
