The counterfeiters did not do justice to the house symbol; the sections are asymmetrical and do not match the pattern of the authentic snakehead.

The first difference we notice is that the fake fastener's embossed component does not have the same sectioning as the genuine one: there is no circle on top and no dots in the front.

Check the stitching on the interior as well as the outside of the bag.

The difference in label material is immediately noticeable: the original is significantly thinner than the counterfeit.

The false side's letters are much larger and bolder than the genuine side's, but that doesn't mean they did a better job - characters must be symmetrical, thin, and very well carved.

Genuine bags contain high-quality leather, clasps, and zippers, as well as a precise logo.
