A great sports betting app is packed with features and optimized for quick, reliable, on-the-go wagering.

Here's what we look for in a mobile betting app: User experience

Mobile sportsbook apps are developed with the user in mind.

A sportsbook app should offer a broad selection of sports and bet types while making it easy for its users to locate, preview, and submit their bets.

The top mobile sports betting apps give their users the option to choose from a variety of sportsbook deposit and withdrawal methods.

Deposit options should include debit cards, credit cards, bank transfers, PayPal, and more.

Top-notch security is a must for any mobile sportsbook.

But the top sportsbooks in the nation go above and beyond to keep your funds safe and ensure no harm will come to your device.

Regardless on the outcome, get one (1) Ticket to "FanDuel FanFest" taking place in Philadelphia, PA on 8/26/23.

BetMGM Sportsbook was one of the first online sports betting brands to take off in the United States post-PASPA, and its improvement over the years really shows

Located directly above the bet slip on desktop, BetMGM offers its players free streaming of lesser-known events such as tennis, table tennis, and snooker.

Promotions Readily Available: Another major issue at many competing online sportsbooks is their lack of promotions and how difficult it can be to locate them.

Players can select this pre-made bet, add it to their bet slip, and receive higher odds than they would at any other online sportsbook! Shared Wallet with Casino: WynnBET users in active online casino states can switch back and forth between the brand's sportsbook and iCasino at the click of a button.

PointsBet's desktop client definitely passes the test, and here's a few additional reasons why we consider it one of the best sports betting sites to date:

Quick Parlay Builder: Creating a multi-leg wager has never been easier thanks to PointsBet's Quick Parlay feature.

A detailed menu of sports markets is located in a column on the left hand side of the homepage, while My Bets, Promotions, and other special Features can be found on the right side.
