However, the FDIC does not insure Cash App. If Cash App goes under, you are not guaranteed any funds you have withdrawn from your bank and deposited into your Cash App balance.

There are other ways to add money besides a direct bank transfer. You can add money to your Cash App balance from a prepaid card, but note that Cash App cannot transfer money from your Cash App balance to a prepaid card. It's also possible to send money through Cash App with a linked credit card. Be aware that Cash App charges a 3% transaction fee with linked credit cards.

Transferring money back into your bank's checking or savings account is similar to adding funds. To deposit money into a linked bank account, tap on your Cash App balance in the lower left corner of the home screen. Then tap Cash Out to send money to your bank.

To apply, tap on the Cash Card icon at the bottom of your Cash App home screen, then press Get Cash Card. After tapping Continue and following a few steps, your new Cash Card should arrive in the mail within 10 business days. As soon as you order a Cash Card, you'll be able to add it to Apple Pay and Google Pay.

Other features include a choice of free spins games, with more examples of your favorite symbol in play.
